Mackie's new MC-50BT and MC-60BT headphones give you wireless Bluetooth connectivity and hands-free operation, along with the stellar audio quality you expect from Mackie. Both models offer MIS™ Wide-Band Active Noise canceling for superior immersion and Bluetooth 5.0 connectivity for better imaging, longer range, and fewer dropouts, with the MC-60BT incorporating QCC aptX support for superior 24-Bit HD audio and lower latency. And when you need to stay aware of your environment, Ambient Mode allows outside sound in. The MC-60BT also gives you the ability to connect to up to two different devices, as well as wireless charging via the included pad. Comfy earpads mean you can wear them for hours without fatigue, and capacitance touch controls make operation easy and intuitive. Enjoy up to 40 hours of play time with MC-50BT and up to 35 with MC-60BT. And with their convenient, collapsible design and included cases, you can take them with you everywhere.

If wireless earbuds are more your style, the new MP-20TWS True Wireless Stereo earbuds offer big sound in a miniscule package. Their dual driver technology incorporates powerful Knowles balanced armature + custom dynamic drivers for smooth, punchy bass and crisp, clear highs. Running the latest Bluetooth 5.2 technology, MP-20TWS earbuds deliver great sound with super-low latency, and MIS Hybrid Active Noise Cancelling to eliminate unwanted noise from 1kHz down to 40Hz as well as the same Ambient Mode found on the two new headphone models. The three integrated Knowles SiSonic mics give you optimal call quality. With dual capacitive touch controls and voice command capability, the MP-20TWS delivers intuitive operation while giving you the ultimate in great sound and more than 40 hours of battery life with the included charging case.

Tyler Vaughn, Product Manager commented, "Mackie has long been known for our mixers and monitors, both live and in studio. When we moved into high-performance headphones a few years ago, it was a natural progression, and they've
